

"ROGUE, SCAMP" SAYS A BRITON

Esterhazy Raked By Man Who Bought Him.

BITING WORDS OF JOURNALIST ROWLAND STRONG.

Handwriting Expert of the Bank of France Testifies That No Part of the Bordereau Shows Any Similarity to Dreyfus' Work—General Gonse Puts in a Rejoinder But Is Silenced and Very Much Discomfited—M. Bertillon Takes a View Adverse to the Prisoner's Innocence.

Rennes, Aug. 25.—[Special]—Testimony so matter of fact and to the point that it fell upon the court like a dash of cold water was heard today. It was in significant contrast to the theatrical but wholly irrelevant sneers, snorts and shrugs of defiance or self-glorification that have made up a large part of the case thus far.

Rowland Strong, the Paris correspondent of the London Observer, and the only English witness to testify before court was first heard in the Dreyfus court-martial today.

His manner was reserved, moderate but full of force through the avoidance of hysterical emphasis. He told how he tried to buy Esterhazy's confession for publication and Esterhazy admitted writing the bordereau. Esterhazy told Strong several times that when he quitted prison he would tell all, and it would ruin Du Paty de Clam and all who had abandoned the speaker, Esterhazy.

Strong testified that Esterhazy impressed him as being a thorough crook and swindler.

"Absolutely without moral principles, I judge him to be," said the witness.

The testimony of an officer named Weill, a friend of Esterhazy, before the court of cassation, was read.

Leveque, a clerk in the war office, testified, alleging that Dreyfus once looked over his shoulder while he was copying a secret document.

Hand Writing Expert Called.

Labori distained to cross examine this witness. M. Gobert, the handwriting expert of the Bank of France, was then called. M. Gobert told him he was originally called by the war office to examine the bordereau, and after comparing it with a specimen of Dreyfus' handwriting, declared from first to last it was not the work of the accused. General Gonse was called to confront the witness. He said Gobert was wrong in the details of his testimony, whereupon the expert earnestly demonstrated the correctness of all he had said. Gonse retired, discomfited, but insinuated that Dreyfus had known the witness in the bank. Dreyfus denied emphatically that he had ever known Gobert.

The rest of the day's session was given over to the testimony of M. Bertillon, the head of the anthropometric department of the Paris police, and who maintains that he has proved Dreyfus to be the author of the bordereau.

Bertillon Produces Bordereau

By his system, the witness produced the bordereau in twelve minutes and claimed that Dreyfus could have done the same. Bertillon presented his copy of the bordereau to the judges, who examined it very closely. Finally Col. Jouvaux leaned back and shrugged his shoulders, as though dissatisfied.

Dreyfus regarded Bertillon with astonishment and when Labori and Demange were shown Bertillon's diagrams, looked them over with a scant interest.

The following is one of Bertillon's statements, which he made in a high pitch of voice with an air of conviction. "The bordereau obeys geometrical rates, and I have discovered the equation of it on the prisoner's blotting paper."

Labori said after the trial that Bertillon reproduced a certain resemblance to Dreyfus' writing, but that was all. The witness had simply produced a clever forgery.

Paris, Aug. 25.—[Special]—The Figaro says today that Mme. Labori has been made very nervous over the report of anonymous letters threatening the assassination of her husband, herself and children.

Loubet on Dreyfus Case.

Paris, Aug. 25.—President Loubet made an address to the district council of Rambouillet, in the course of which he said that the whole country should bow to the verdict of the Dreyfus court-martial. The judges, he declared, could be relied upon for absolute impartiality.

Last Report of the General.

London, Aug. 25.—The Rennes correspondent of the Daily News says: "The more compromised members of the general staff are considering the policy of an appeal to mercy as a last resort."

TOBACCO DEALERS HAVE DECLARED WAR

OBJECT TO TAX ON SEPARATE WAREHOUSES.

United States Internal Revenue Department Bring On the Trouble—A Test Case Will Be Made By Dohan & Tate of Philadelphia—Represented Locally.

War has been declared between some of the leaf tobacco dealers and the United States Internal Revenue department and a test case will be made.

The difference of opinion that exists between the dealers and the officials is simply that the revenue department claims that every separate warehouse is liable for the $24 annual tax, and the dealers on the other hand maintain that the place in which they are located is the only one for which they are liable. If a firm pays $6 per year they may put up any amount of tobacco up to one hundred thousand pounds, while if they exceed that figure they must pay $24 and there is no limit to the amount of business that they may do.

The ones who are making the protest are dealers who have their offices in certain cities and hire firms to buy and receive the leaf for them at other points about the country. These places, they claim are merely warehouses for storing the goods, and as all of the business is done from the main office they object to paying the license fee for each separate place.

The test case to be made is that of Paris, Aug. 25.—[Special]—The burlesque of the Guerin siege grows with each day. The police have been claiming that Guerin could get neither gas, water, fuel nor food, and must surely starve. Today they were surprised to find chicken bones in Guerin's ash barrel. They cannot comprehend how Guerin could get chickens and think there must have been a miracle. Guerin and the besieged party spent last night on the roof. They feared that firemen would flood the house through the chimney.

They refused to pay the license for the local brands for the above mentioned reason, and as a consequence, O. S. When the proceedings had reached this point the Quaker City firm ordered Mr. Soverhill to pay the claim which he did under protest. The entire amount including the costs was $43.

The case will now be taken to the United States supreme court at Washington by consent of both parties and the outcome will be watched with considerable interest.

SALISBURY CAN NOT YIELD.

Recent Negotiations Have Increased the Seriousness of the Outlook—E.

London, Aug. 25.—Although the colonial office maintains complete silence regarding the terms of the Transvaal's reply to the British proposals, it is generally agreed that the unofficial forecast is substantially accurate. As the reply thus forecasted, while practically granting Sir Alfred Milner's demands, includes the abrogation of the British claim of suzerainty, the outcome of the present stage of negotiations must be a deadlock, increasing the seriousness of the outlook.

Lord Salisbury and Mr. Chamberlain are pledged to maintain the suzerainty, which the Boers insist Lord Granville abandoned.

Meanwhile, assuming that war must come, Portugal's detention of Boer munitions in Delagoa bay is most serious to the Transvaal. Delagoa bay is the only possible route whereby President Kruger can import arms. It is therefore probable that the Transvaal will soon question the legality of the Lisbon government's action when no state of war exists, as Portugal's present attitude plainly shows what may be expected in case war actually breaks out.

THE OCONTO WOMAN TRANSFERS HER PROPERTY.

Her Oshkosh Attorneys Think It Was For the Purpose of Defrauding Them—Second Day of the Darlington Fair a Record Breaker—State News.

Oconto, Wis., Aug. 25.—The celebrated acid throwing case against Mrs. Rose A. Sharp is recalled by a new suit. Last month the law firm of Keiker, Stewart & McDonald of Oshkosh, filed papers and received a judgment against her property of over $900 for services given at the trial.

It has since transpired that some time ago Mrs. Sharp transferred her property here, by a warranty deed, to Katherine Slattery, and as a result, the attorneys have begun another action to have the deed set aside and the property disposed of to satisfy the judgment with interest.

The papers were served Wednesday night by Sheriff Caldwell and in them it is alleged, that upon information and belief, from an inspection of the records, that the conveyance of the premises by Rose Sharp was done with the intent to delay and defraud her creditors, and that Katherine Slattery did not pay any consideration whatsoever for the premises, and that it is still in fact the property of Mrs. Sharp.

The plaintiffs ask that the deed be conveyed back to Mrs. Sharp and that it

SANBORN SELLS GROCERY BUSINESS

PASSES INTO THE HANDS OF BEDRICK BROS.

New Owners Assumed Control At Once and Are Now In Full Charge of Store—Both Are Highly Spoken Of and Are Experienced—Cash Business.

A business change that will be a general topic of discussion in Janesville homes was brought about today.

The business, stock and good will of G. A. Sanborn & Co. passed into the hands of Bedrick Bros.

The new owners assumed control at once and are now in full charge of the store.

The welcome of these two young business men to Janesville is likely to be cordial and sincere. Their experience in the grocery business has been thorough and extensive. H. M. Dedrick has been on the road for years with wholesale grocery houses and for the last five years has been with Reid, Murdock & Co., making his home in La Crosse. George B. Dedrick, who comes here from Geneseo, Ill., has the management of the largest grocery house in Geneseo, and expects to divide his time between the two stores, using the double purchasing power for the advantage of customers. The active management of the Janesville store, however, will rest with H. M. Dedrick, who will move his family from La Crosse at once.

As will be seen, both of the Messrs. Dedrick are conversant with every detail of the wholesale and retail grocery business, and will have exceptional advantages in the conduct of their business.

A radical departure is to be inaugurated at once in the installation of the cash system.

"This is to be done in no wise as a measure of retrenchment," said one of the new proprietors today, "but because of the proof given in a score of other cities of the immense advantage of the cash system to customers. By doing away entirely with bookkeeping, memorandum slips and credit accounts we can sell so much cheaper that it will be to the advantage of everyone to take advantage of the cash basis."

Mr. Sanborn's retirement from the grocery business is made necessary in a great measure by the condition of his health. He is making no business plans for the future but intends to enjoy an adequate rest before involving himself further.

"I want to surrender," said Eckert, and then explained to the sheriff that he had killed his wife and turned over a 32-calibre revolver with the remark, "that is the gun that did it."

A COMING RICHMOND WEDDING

Miss Lizzie Shrine and Charles Smarling to Unite in Hymeneal Bonds

Richmond, Aug. 25—A happy wedding ceremony will be celebrated at the home of Mr. Shrine, Aug. 31, when their daughter Lizzie will be united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Charles Smarling of Johnston. As threshing machines are numerous in this vicinity, it will require but a short time longer to wind up the threshing for this season. Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Hultz have started for a visit to St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. Ray Taylor is on the sick list. The Epworth League delegation will go to Beloit on Thursday to attend the district convention. Mr. and Mrs. Whittmarsh of Chicago, are here to visit for two weeks with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. Stoller, and are enjoying themselves immensely. As Mr. Whittmarsh is confined to indoor work in the city, it is equal to being "out of jail" to spend a week or two in the country annually. The tumbourino drill at the Methodist church was very well attended and the crowd was served after the drill. Mrs. D. Rockwell and daughter of Johnston Center, entertained the congregation by solos. Several in this place have corn binders, and the days of cutting corn by hand are nearly over. The corn binder is becoming the real thing in the minds of progressive farmers. Mr. and Mrs. A. L. George Crumb has purchased Mr. Caveney's farm, for $70 per acre.

SPECIAL FOOTVILLE SERVICES

Myrtle Straug arrived home Thursday, after spending a week in Janesville. Ida Harper, who has been visiting her sister at Caintville, arrived home Wednesday. Farmers are all busy these days shedding a very fine crop of tobacco. The social on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Vesper was well attended and the ladies were well pleased over the receipts. Bills are posted announcing an entertainment in Footville, Aug. 28, for the benefit of the Oxfordville band. Services at the M. E. church next Sunday morning will be especially attractive for the old people, although the young are urged to be present. It will be in the nature of a harvest service. The church will be decorated accordingly. The evening service will consist of a song and praise service followed by papers on the district Epworth League convention at Beloit. Come both morning and evening. Quite a number of Footville people attended a lecture at Center, Tuesday evening. Mrs. C. R. Vesper and daughter are spending a few days with her sister at West Salem, Wis. The new water tank at the depot is nearly completed and is a fine one. ### SOCIAL GATHERINGS AT AFTON

Last Week a Busy One—Clam Bake Parties and Picnics

Afton, Aug. 25—Last week was a busy one in Afton and vicinity from a social standpoint. The clam bake given by the Beloit business men was held on Tuesday in the Inman grove. On Tuesday evening Frank James entertained a party of young friends at his home south of the village. Wednesday was picnic day for the Baptist Sunday school, the annual outing being held at Big Hill park this year. Ringling's circus attracted several Aftonians to the county seat Thursday and on Thursday evening a surprise was perpetrated on Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Humphrey in honor of their twentieth wedding anniversary. About eighty guests were present and they left a handsome china tea set with Mr. and Mrs. Humphrey as a slight token of esteem and to help mark the pleasant anniversary. The affair was decidedly successful and very enjoyable to all participating. The closing event of the week was the Woodman picnic held on Saturday in the Inman grove. Hon. E. C. Whelan of Madison, spoke in the forenoon, while the afternoon was devoted to games and social intercourse, interspersed with excellent music by an Italian orchestra of five pieces. A booth where ice cream, pop, lemonade, cigars, peanuts, and were liberally patronized, and the quartette of neighbors in charge, Messrs. Peter Drafa, G. S. Otis, J. F. Bolte and A. R. Waite were kept very busy supplying the wants of those present. Ground was broken last Monday for a new store and hall building to be erected by Dick Brickman. The structure will stand just north of Mrs. Waterman's residence on the lot recently sold to her by Edward Harwood. The dimensions of the new building will be 32x60 with 24 foot posts. The lower floor will be used as a general store, while a commodious hall will occupy the upper story. It is now rumored that Mr. Carou will rebuild his store on the site of the structure recently burned. If this should prove true, Afton will be better supplied than ever with business houses. Miss Mary E. Scott returned to her home in Beloit last Sunday after a couple of weeks spent with friends here. After a three weeks' visit with Afton friends, Walter Swanson returned to Chicago, today.

Grain-O Brings Relief

to the coffee drinker. Coffee drinking is a habit that is universally indulged in and almost as universally injurious. Have you tried Grain-O? It is almost like coffee, but the effects are just the opposite. Coffee upsets the stomach and ruins the digestion, affects the heart and disturbs the whole nervous system. Grain-O tones up the stomach, aids digestion and strengthens the nerves. There is nothing but nourishment in Grain-O. It can't be otherwise.

FAMILY ARRIVES FROM SYRIA

John Atol Joined by His Wife and Two Sons—A Pleasant Trip

John Atol, who runs the fruit store in the Hayes block on Milwaukee street, is rejoicing at the safe arrival of his wife and two sons from far off Damascus, Syria. Mrs. Atol and the children reached Janesville Thursday noon after their long trip, which was a most eventful one.

When the party reached New York, Mrs. Atol found that she needed thirty-five dollars with which to continue her journey. She accordingly hunted up some friends of her husband in the metropolis, who wired Mr. Atol to send the money on, which was done immediately. In the meantime however, the emigration officials, not knowing that the matter had been attended to, notified Mr. Atol that if the money was not forthcoming at once, his family would be returned to Syria.

This naturally frightened the local fruit dealer and the wires for the next few days were kept hot in the endeavor to straighten the matter out. After some ten dollars' worth of messages had been exchanged between the parties the situation was at last understood and the travellers from the Orient continued on their way to this city, where the happy re-union took place.

40 SABLE SONS OF THE SOUTH

A Great Attraction at Myers Grand This Evening.

Forty sable sons of the south compose Oliver Scott's big minstrel carnival, which will appear at Myers Grand this evening, and the entertainment given by them is one of originality and refinement. It appeals to the taste of all classes. Entirely free from all objectionable features. The person must be fastidious, indeed, who could find fault with the genuine humor, the plantation singing and nimbly dancing of these negroes. A great deal of music introduced is of a high order. Surely the negro is advancing, and his white brother will have to look to his laurels, as the natural adaptability of these people fits them for the stage as properly as if they had been on the boards since infancy.

For sale by People's Drug Co., corner Main and Milwaukee streets.

OUR DAILY STORY

of his treasure in rosy-cheeked apples. He sprang lightly up the stairs to his home, calling "Babsie!" as he ran, so anxious was he to see her astonishment and delight. But no answer came; no pattering of little feet. The library room was empty. He sat down chilled and uneasy, and the apples rolled unheeded to the floor.

But one hour—two hours—three hours passed, and still no Babsie. The fog was growing denser and denser. The anxious father paced up and down the stairs he rushed out and called her name.

The callboy at the Regal theater was calling out "overture and beginners" as he made his way along the passages when a man rushed past him and disappeared into one of the dressing-rooms. It was Nigel Halliday, white and trembling, and with huge beads of perspiration on his brow.

"He'll never be on!" said the performers in chorus. But he was at the side, dressed and made up, fully five minutes before his first entrance. The other performers were looking at him curiously, for his face was twitching and he spoke to no one. "Nervousness or drunkenness," they all agreed.

There was a ripple of laughter as he made his first entrance. It acted like an electric shock upon him. He knew what was expected of him, and he worked desperately. "He'll do!" said the anxious manager, sagely, as he watched his grotesque exit and listened to the applause that followed it.

As soon as Halliday was off the stage after the fourth scene he caught the assistant manager by the arm. "I'm not on until the palace scene," he said eagerly. "How long is my wait?"

"Oh, about an hour tonight," was the reply. Halliday rushed down the passage to his dressing-room, removing his kingly robes as he ran.

"What the deuce are you doing?" cried one of the men, as he watched him struggle into his overcoat. "Are you drunk tonight, or what?"

"Don't stop me!" panted Halliday. "Hands off, I say! It's my long wait. I'll be back in time. My child is lost—missing since morning. I'm crazy with anxiety; she's my only one."

Through the streets he ran, threading in and out the traffic, heedless of the drivers. The fog had cleared away, and the night was starry.

"Babsie! Babsie!" he panted, as he tore along. "Babsie! Babsie!" as he vaulted up the dark staircase to his home. All was silent in the desolate room. He stood there one moment and threw up his hands in voiceless prayer, and then he hastened back to the theater.

Just before his entrance in the palace scene the doorman made his way through the crowd and said something in a low tone to the stage manager. He saw them glance toward him and in a moment he was beside them.

"In heaven's name tell me, Gramble! Is it news for me? Don't lie; I know it is!"

"When you come off, Halliday—after your song. There's your music playing now. Go on, old man."

"Tell me first," Halliday replied hoarsely, "and I give you my word I'll go on!"

"A little girl—run over—taken to Faith hospital. Don't know who she belongs to. Died unconscious," Gramble replied hastily.

"Thank you," was all the wretched man said as he staggered past them onto the stage.

A child in the gallery laughed gleefully at his grotesque entrance. It sounded just like Babsie's laugh. Babsie now, perhaps, lying a little mangled corpse in the Faith hospital.

Why was he there? he asked himself. If his darling lay dead. What did he care for money now?

But Babsie had been so fond of his "drinking song." She had looked forward to hearing him sing it. He would sing it for her sake.

Then his voice began to falter—he swayed slightly. "He's breaking down," was the terrified whisper. "Won't some one step in to fill the gap?"

And some one did. Right from the very back of the gallery it came—a child's voice that caught up the refrain just as the wretched singer was about to rush from the stage, and the astonished artists, looking up to the "gods," beheld the singer, a little girl perched upon the shoulders of a stalwart coster. It was Babsie—Babsie alive and well.

By the time the little girl had got through the chorus and the gallery had shown their appreciation by applause and whistling, Halliday had regained his self-possession, and he sang the remainder of his ditty with such joyous vigor that he carried his audience along, and the infection of gaiety from all the smiling faces on the stage made itself felt all over the house.

"That kid in the gallery is an old music-hall dodge," said one petite to another.

"Yes, but this was jolly well worked. I thought the chap had really broken down," replied his friend.

Behind the scenes the "kid in the gallery" was being clasped in her father's arms amid a group of sympathetic people in motley attire.

Babsie's story was soon told. She had been offered a quarter by a neighbor to mind her babies while she went out. The temptation to see her "dad" perform had been too strong, and the little girl, with her precious coin in her hand, had patiently waited outside the gallery door for many hours. As she had not expected her father home all day she had not been in the least uneasy.

Then Manager Vaughan and Stage Manager Gramble claimed her attention, and the performer slipped a brand new dollar bill into her hand.

"It's what I owe you for that unheard-of effect," he said, laughing. "Forget-Me-Not."

Animals That Change Diet

Instances of carnivorous animals turning to a vegetable diet are rare. One noted instance is a Scotch deerhound, which is so fond of peaches that it will stand on its hind legs to reach them on the trees. In New Zealand a parrot took to sheep-killing and eating, and some pigs evinced a preference for a diet of young lamb, while some Australian sheep became not only carnivorous, but cannibal.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhoea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. ## The Only Thing Left.

A grandfather, well known in the English house of commons, was chatting amicably with his little granddaughter.

"What makes your hair so white, grandpa?" the little miss queried.

"I am very old, my dear; I was in the ark," replied his lordship, with a painful disregard of the truth.

"Oh, are you Noah?"

"No."

"Are you Shem, then?"

"No, I am not Shem."

"Are you Ham?"

"No."

"Then," said the little one, who was fast nearing the limit of her biblical knowledge, "you must be Japhet."

A negative reply was given to this query also, for the old gentleman inwardly wondered what the outcome would be.

"But, grandpa, if you are not Noah, or Shem, or Ham, or Japhet, you must be a beast."

WITH THE HUMORIST.

O'Batch—Do you find since your marriage that life is one grand, sweet song? Benedict—No, not exactly. A girl who lives in the flat just under ours plays rag-time music on her piano with a persistence that is worthy of a better cause.—Chicago Daily News.

"The worm will turn," she said. "Of course," he replied. "The worm is built on a plan that makes turning comparatively easy. It's more or less of a turn itself."—Chicago Post.

"Girls, Harry Hawkins is just lovely."

"Why, dear?"

"When ever a man wants to treat him he says he'll take a box of candy for some girl he knows."—Chicago Record.

"I'll tell you one thing: Kipling's recovery is a great surprise to me."

"I don't see why it should be. He has a strong constitution and, besides, is a man of iron will."

"Yes, but he had two doctors."—Chicago Daily News.

A Scheiner.

Bannister—So you think you will spend your vacation at some inland?

Howson—Yes. I don't feel that we can afford to go to the seashore this year.

Bannister—What place do you expect to go to?

Howson—I don't know. Haven't the least idea. Somewhere here in the west, though. My wife always decides such matters.

Bannister—Is she partial to the western resorts?

Howson—No, but I've been urging that we go to the sea or some fashionable place down east.

Eczema! The Only Cure.

Eczema is more than a skin disease, and no skin remedies can cure it. The doctors are unable to effect a cure, and their mineral mixtures are damaging to the most powerful constitution. The whole trouble is in the blood, and Swift's Specific is the only remedy which can reach such deep-seated blood diseases.

Eczema broke out on my daughter, and continued to spread until her head was entirely covered. She was treated by several good doctors, but grew worse, and the dreadful disease spread to her face. She was taken to two celebrated health springs, but received no benefit. Many patent medicines were taken, but without result, until we decided to try S. S. S., and by the time the first bottle was finished, her head began to heal. A dozen bottles cured her completely and left her skin perfectly smooth. She is now sixteen years old, and has a magnificent growth of hair. Not a sign of the dreadful disease has ever returned.

FEEL THE CHANGE.

Hundreds Voluntarily Endorse a Scientific Product.

A Statement by a Well Known Citizen Who Has Found Great Relief by Using It.

The great good that Morrow's Kid-ne-oids are doing in Janesville for all forms of kidney and urinary disorders is being daily told by our citizens. All who use Kid-ne-oids for backache, dizziness, sleeplessness, nervousness and general debility give hearty expression of the quick relief they obtained.

Mrs. A. H. Taylor, 60 Prospect Ave., whose husband is a painter in Kent's shop, says: "My husband has complained of kidney backache for the past two years. He was also subject to rheumatism in his joints and to spells of dizziness and nervousness. He could not sleep or rest on account of his troubles. He was treated by doctors and took different kinds of kidney remedies, but only temporary relief followed, until he heard of Morrow's Kid-ne-oids and used them according to directions. Since using Kid-ne-oids he has not complained of backache or any of his former troubles, he sleeps well and looks so much better."

Morrow's Kid-ne-oids are not pills, but yellow tablets, and sell at fifty cents a box at all drug stores and at The People's Drug Co.'s store.

Mailed on receipt of price. Manufactured by John Morrow & Co., chemist, Springfield, Ohio.

POWER OF SHORT WORDS.

A Paragraph Illustrating It, and Attributed to Horatio Seymour.

In the following paragraph, attributed to Horatio Seymour, the writer practices what he preaches, since there is no word in it with more than two syllables, save such as are quoted for the purpose of illustration: "We must not only think in words, but we must also try to use the best words and those which in speech will put what is in our minds into the minds of others. This is the great art which those must gain who wish to teach in the school, the church, at the bar, or through the press. To do this in the right way they should use the short words which we learn in early life, and which have the same sense to all classes of men. The English of our Bible is good. Now and then some long words are found, and they always hurt the verses in which you find them. Take that which says 'Oh, ye generation of vipers, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?' There is one long word which ought not to be in it, namely, 'generation.' In the old version the old word 'brood' is used. Read the verse with the term, and you will feel its full force: 'Oh, ye viper's brood, who hath warned you to flee from the wrath to come?' Crime sometimes does not look like crime 'when it is set before us in the many folds of a long word. When a man steals, and we call it a 'defalcation,' we are at a loss to know if it is a blunder or a crime. If he does not tell the truth, and we are told that it is a case of 'prevarication,' it takes us some time to know just what we should think of it. No man will ever cheat himself into wrongdoing, nor will he be at a loss to judge of others, if he thinks and speaks of acts in clear, crisp terms. It is a good rule, if one is at a loss to know if an act is right or wrong to write it down in short, straight-out English."

OF HERRINGS AND SAWDUST.

Asphalt Pavements May Be Made from These Substances.

The notice of making asphalt artificially from herrings and sawdust seems so extraordinary as to suggest burlesque. Nevertheless, this surprising feat has been accomplished by Prof. W. C. Day of Swarthmore college, near Philadelphia. Specimens of the product are now in possession of the geological survey in Washington, and were shown to a Washington correspondent by Prof. Diller, one of the members of the scientific staff of that government bureau. Not long ago a very curious mineral substance, up to that time unknown, was found in Utah, deposited in veins which had once been fissures in the rocks. These fissures had been choked up by bituminous matter gushing from the bowels of the earth, and in this way the deposits of gilsonite, as it is now called, were formed. It is a singularly pure species of asphalt, and is now being mined in a large way, the production of it constituting an important industry. The stuff is used for making varnishes. For this purpose it is especially good, because varnishes made of it will not crack. Conspicuous streaks of the gilsonite run like strips of ribbon over hill and dale, so that they can be followed with the eye for miles. Some of this "gum asphalt," as it is popularly called, was placed in the hands of Prof. Day for analysis, and he found that its makeup was such as to suggest an animal origin, at least in part. It is believed nowadays by scientific men generally that asphalt ordinarily are derived from vegetable matter. Such matter, being laid down in vast beds during the coal-forming period, subsequently underwent chemical processes.

Labor Creates the Value.

A pound of raw cotton is worth five cents; when made into fabrics that pound is worth twenty-five cents to one dollar. Massachusetts has 8,000,000 spindles and spins 1,250,000 bales of southern cotton to sell back to the south. The south hews the wood and draws the water; it does the drudgery of producing the raw material for the north to manufacture and get rich upon.

MANUFACTURERS ENCOURAGED

manufacturing from twenty to forty mattresses a day. Their business also reaches every part of the United States. Cannot Handle the Business.

The Hanson Furniture Company was organized in Janesville in 1890. They employ forty men and their business at present is greater than they can handle. Superintendent H. M. Hanson says that the company is doing just twice the work that they were this time last year. They have more orders than they can fill and have taken their traveling men off the road and put them in the office. Mr. Hanson says that they are running eleven and one half hours a day. The Hanson company manufactures exclusively tables. Their territory is chiefly in the west and northwest. This week they have shipped a carload to Kansas City, and one to Lincoln, Nebraska. Their sales average about a carload a week.

Another Prosperous Industry

The Thoroughgood & company cigar box factory also numbers among the prominent manufacturing concerns of Janesville. They employ forty hands and their business is one of the prosperous industries of the country.

The Janesville Barb Wire company employ seventy helpers. They are turning out about 500 tons of barb wire a month and this shows a very favorable increase over the business done last year.

Frank B. Strickler, superintendent of the Janesville Hay Tool company, says that his concern is doing a good business and that it compares favorably with the previous years for that company. The force of men at work in the Janesville Hay Tool company at present numbers six.

The Ford Milling company is another firm doing a good prosperous business. Their exclusive product is rye flour, and they manufacture an excellent quality of it. Six men are employed at their mills.

Arrival of a New Industry

A new manufacturing establishment has come to Janesville under the firm name of the Cheate-Hollister Furniture Company. They were formerly at Oshkosh.

I. J. Estes, the manager of the new company, was seen yesterday by a Gazette reporter.

"We have just started," said the manager, "and are at present putting in our time getting out samples. We have twenty-three men at work now, but when we are going full blast will have a force of ninety employees. That will be in about six weeks. We will bring a large part of these men from Oshkosh, but some of them will be selected from here."

"We manufacture entirely dining room furniture, and in Oshkosh did a business of about $160,000 a year. We will equal or surpass that here."

"Of all these large manufacturing concerns there is not a single one that is losing ground, and a very large majority of them can show, for just the last year alone, an increase of from twenty to one hundred per cent. in the proportion of their business. Surely, with these figures and with new firms coming to Janesville, things are 'looking up' in the Bower City."

Chief Justice of New Zealand an Atheist

Sir Robert Stout, the new chief justice of New Zealand, is singular among occupants of high judicial office in being an avowed atheist. He was formerly known as the "Bradlaugh of the Antipodes," and he once presided over a secularist congress in Melbourne. He was born in the Shetland islands fifty-five years ago, emigrated to New Zealand in his nineteenth year, became a schoolmaster, studied law after school hours, and secured the right to wear a wig and gown at 27. At 31 he was an M. P. and at 34 attorney general in the government of Sir George Grey. In 1884 he became premier of a coalition government in association with Sir Julius Vogel.

MANUFACTURERS ARE ENCOURAGED

Business On the Wax In Janesville

SUCH IS THE VERDICT OF HEADS OF FIRMS.

Dullness Is a Word That Seems to Have Been Dropped From the Vocabulary
of the Local Business Men—A Progressive Area in the History of the Bower City—Interviews With Representatives of These Industries
Bring Forth Joyful Tidings.

Business is on the wax for the manufacturing concerns of Janesville. So say the heads of the most important firms, and some of them give the figures to demonstrate.

There are many big manufacturing firms in Janesville—firms using from twenty-five to three hundred employees.
These employees live in Janesville, eat in Janesville and buy from Janesville marchandise. When the business condition of these large firms is good or when it is the contrary, the effect is indirectly felt by the local merchants. The result may not be immediate but it is inevitable. For instance if such a concern as the Janesville Machine company, which at present is employing about 250 men should find it necessary to add a force of 50 extra machinists, it is not probable that all of those fifty men could be found in Janesville. Some of them would have to be brought from other cities. There introduction into the city would mean an increase, however imperceptible, in the trade of the local retail merchants.

And dullness is a word that seems to have been dropped from the vocabulary
of the majority of Janesville's manufacturers. The markets, they say, are freer and the prices better. Money is working easier and all fear of a tightening in the trade of any business seems to have been allayed. And it is seldom that the conditions have held so well during a season, which in some lines of business, is considered the poorest in the year for trade. This is particularly true of iron and steel products. In the interview with J. A. Craig, manager of the Janesville Machine company, on the present situation and outlook of that concern, this last statement is corroborated.

Doing an Enormous Business.

The Janesville Machine company was established in this city in 1859. Their business amounts to half a million dollars a year and at present they employ 250 men. The products of their factories are exclusively farming implements
—plows, cultivators, disk harrows, seeders, lever harrows and mowers. They are the most modern plow establishment in the northwest, and have distributing houses in thirteen large cities throughout the country. Minneapolis, Omaha, Des Moines, Cedar Rapids, Sioux City,
Kansas City, St. Louis, Peoria, Aurora,
Sacramento, Cal., and others.

Mr. Craig says that the company is doing a larger business than it ever has done before. He says that it has carried on twenty per cent. more this fiscal year ending July 1st than in any year previous.

The number of carloads a year including the "ins" and "outs" is about 650.
The number of carloads which the company shipped this last year averaged about eight a week. During some of their busiest seasons they have sent out
as many as twenty carloads a week.

This is not the lively portion of the year for the manufacture of farming implements. The company are now re-casting their machinery and getting ready for the bustling time that will come with the fall and winter months.

Mr. Craig stated that during their busy season this year, the company would probably take on about fifty extra employees, running the force up to the three hundred mark.

Cotton Mills Are Busy.

The Janesville Cotton Mills have 240 employees, of which number about half are women. The mills are turning out about 20,000 yards of cloth a day, and William Heller, manager of the mills, says that the business is running on about the same average as last year.

The Gazette made mention a few days ago that the company had improved their plant by the addition of a new engine, at the lower mill. This would naturally lead people to think that the management "saw something coming" in the cotton business, but Mr. Sutherland, the president of the company, replied in the negative when asked a few days ago if that was the reason for putting in the new piece of machinery. He said, as The Gazette stated at the time, that the engine was solely to provide for emergency in case the water supply should become insufficient.

A Concern to Be Proud Of

The Lewis Knitting Company came to Janesville from Portage, Wis., in 1887. They have in their employ seventy-four people, of whom also a large majority are women. The business of this company is in a state of high prosperity. Their sales for the past year have averaged about $8,000 a month.

"This," said S. B. Lewis, president of the company, "shows an increase of about thirty per cent. over that of last year. The Lewis Bros. manufacture the finest underwear in the United States.
They took the highest award at the World's Columbian Exposition and were presented with three separate diplomas and medals for knit underwear,
wool underwear and silk underwear.
It is often true that virtue is best known abroad and Mr. Lewis tells a story of a Janesville man that demonstrates that statement.

"A young man very well known in Janesville circles," said Mr. Lewis, "was in one of New York's largest men's furnishing stores. Upon asking to be shown some of the very best undergarments the store had in their stock the clerk handed him down some of Lewis Bros.' make.

"Is this the best you have?" asked the young man.

"That is the very best underwear that is for sale in the country," replied the clerk.

"Well, that's a surprise to me," said
the young man. "I live in Janesville myself, and am not very far from the Lewis Knitting Company's plant, but I had never supposed they made underwear
that cost $45 a suit."

"And that," concluded Mr. Lewis,
"is what the young man paid for it."
The Lewis Knitting Company place their goods in every large city of the United States. Some of the biggest merchants that handle their stock are the John Wanamaker Company of New York, Marshall Field & Company of Chicago, and Altman & Company of New York. In addition to their manufacturing department the Lewis Bros.
have a machine shop in which they make the greater part of their own machinery. The company last year employed only sixty helpers, and this year's force is an increase of fourteen over that of last.

Demand Greater Than Supply.

The Jeffris Company is another firm of advanced ideas, modern improvements and hustling business ability.
The demand for the product of their factories is at present far greater than the supply. They are far behind in filling their orders, as is every other firm that manufactures the quality of goods that they do. Last March the company was burned out of their factory, but they have made up for their rather cramped quarters, by running nights. Their specialty is fine office furniture, screen doors and windows.
In the Janesville end of their business,
that is, apart from the lumber camp at Jeffris, Wisconsin, the company works about sixty-five employees. Their new building, into which they expect to move about the first of September, will be one of the finest in the city. It will cost about $12,000 exclusive of the machinery.

The dimensions of the building are 85x105 feet. It is of elevator construction, and contains over a million feet of lumber. It will receive a half-inch coat of plaster on the inside and a half inch of hard cement on the outside,
making it practically fireproof.

The power for the machinery will be obtained from the engine house which is across the alley and the shaft has been run underground connecting the two buildings. One of the members of the company stated that the business of the Jeffris company now is three times as large as it was last year. When they move into their new quarters the capacity for work will be much larger and an additional force of employees will be necessary.

Largest Firm of Kind in the World

The Parker Fountain Pen company is also an enterprise, which Janesville is proud. They are the largest bona fide manufacturers of fountain pens in the world. Their business is not confined to Wisconsin, the United States or to America. It extends into every quarter of the globe. The company has forty-four employees and six typewriters, who are kept busy every hour of the day.

Yesterday, Geo. S. Parker, manager, stated to a Gazette reporter that the business of the company was better than ever before. Even the month of August, which is not usually a very lively month in the fountain pen business, had, he said, shown a comparatively good rate of sales. Mr. Parker affirmed further that during the six months ending the first of July, the business had shown a gain of 68 per cent. over that for the same period of time last year.

He showed The Gazette representative letter orders which he had received that day from Moscow, Russia, Mexico City, Buenos Ayres, South America, and one from Merzifoun, Turkey. The name of the merchant himself, we do not attempt to print as it contained nearly every letter in the alphabet and the majority of them a number of times.

In the Wave of Prosperity

The Blogett Milling Company is also in the wave of prosperity. The firm came to Janesville from Beloit, where they were burned out, a little over a year ago. They employ thirty-five hands and Mr. Blogett states that he is doing sixty per cent. more business here than in Beloit. The Blogett Mills turn out exclusively rye and buckwheat flour. Mr. Blogett says that it goes "like hot cakes" and that probably considerable of it goes into that popular food article. The company is now turning out on an average about thirty cars a week. They ship the flour to all parts of the country and also export considerable.

The Outlook a Good One.

The Rock River Woolen Mills employ about eighty helpers. Their business, too, extends into almost every part of the country; and W. H. Jones, manager of the company, stated today, that the condition and outlook of the firm was a good one. He says that their business is averaging from forty to fifty per cent. more than during the previous year.

Quality is the word with Rock River Woolen Mills. They turn out high grades of woolen cloth, and especially a fine line of meltons.

The Rock River Cotton company is also in a state of becoming prosperity, having a pay list of about thirty-five and
are running until 9 o'clock at night.
Fred H. Howe, superintendent of the company says that their business is showing a much better average than ever before. They are turning out about one hundred bales of cotton and

DEATH'S CALL HEARD BY MRS. S. G. BAILEY

WELL KNOWN WOMAN IS CALLED HOME.

Burial Services In This City Recall to Early Settlers Many Important Developments In the Growth of the City—The Building of the Myers House.

Mrs. S. G. Bailey, for years a resident of Janesville, will be laid to rest in the family lot in Oak Hill cemetery Saturday. Her death occurred at Chicago Wednesday. The funeral party will arrive on the 11:35 train tomorrow forenoon and will go directly to the grave where brief burial services will be held.

Mrs. Bailey was the wife of Dr. S. G.
Bailey, who survives her. Two sons and a daughter are also left.

Twenty-nine years ago Dr. and Mrs.
Bailey were familiar figures in the life of this city. She was a Miss Sinclair, and her father, Jefferson Sinclair, owned 1,800 acres of Rock county farming lands and was connected with the Lud-ington's in large Milwaukee enterprises.

Dr. Bailey was one of the principals in a large Buffalo hospital before he came west. After moving to Janesville he was associated with Andrew Palmer
in the drug business and afterwards was proprietor of the Philadelphia drug store, now J. P. Baker's. He was also connected with the Rock County bank for a number of years. The so-called "Myers property" at the head of East Milwaukee street was built by him in 1859 for a family residence and they lived there up to the time of their removal to Chicago.

Edward S. Bailey, one of the sons, came up from Chicago yesterday noon to make arrangements for the burial. He returned last evening and will accompany the funeral up her tomorrow.

William Fox

William Fox, aged sixty years, died suddenly, at his home in Porter last night of heart disease.

Mr. Fox was in Janesville yesterday and was to all appearances perfectly well. He was one of the oldest inhabitants of Rock county and was highly respected by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and three children—Mrs.
Catherine Barrett, Miss Mary Fox and Edward Fox.

The funeral services will be held Sunday at the home at 12 o'clock and at St.
Patrick's church at 2 in the afternoon.

Mrs. John Vollmuth

The funeral services of Mrs. John Vollmuth took place this morning at 9 o'clock at St. Patrick's church, Rev. J.
J. Collins officiating.

The pall bearers were Simon J. Ries-ter, John Radtke, A. J. Hanauska and John Wiskie. The interment was at Mount Olivet cemetery.

A SERIOUS CHARGE LODGED

Michael Eagan and Wife Before Bar of Justice.

Michael Eagan and his wife Katharine, were brought into the municipal court during the noon hour today, and two serious charges lodged against them. Mr. Eagan was charged with shooting in the city limits, and his wife with using obscene language. Both were under the influence of liquor, and Mrs. Eagan kicked the dashboard off Chief Hogan's buggy on the way to court.

Both pleaded not guilty. Eagan's bail was fixed at $100 and his wife's at $300, in default of which both went to jail. The date of the trial is set for September 9, at 10 a. m.

The case of the state against Isadore Cohen is not yet finished. The state today recalled H. B. Washington and F. C. Haselton and then rested its case.
Cohen was put upon the stand by the defense and his testimony took up the greater part of the day. He was rigidly cross-examined by District Attorney Jackson and denied writing certain letters which were attributed to him. S. B.
Smith and C. S. Jackman were shown the letters and identified the writing as his.

ODD FELLOWS HAD GOOD TIME

About 300 Enjoy the Excursion to Madison.

The Odd Fellows report that they had a grand time on their annual picnic at Madison yesterday.

About 300 made up the party which left Janesville at 8:30 a. m. A special train of six coaches conveyed them to the capital.

A portion of the party went from the train to the Capitol building and other places of interest in the city, and the rest to the Lake Monona assembly grounds, where the picnic dinner was eaten.

A base ball game was played between two nines, one of which was captained
by Mr. Plowright and the other by Otto E. Smith. Mr. Fathers umpired the game and stated to a Gazette representative today that he tried to keep the score even, but that Mr. Plowright's team succeeded in scoring two more runs than the other. The score was 16 to 14.

The party left Madison at 8 o'clock and everyone who participated in the outing enjoyed the day immensely.

GOLFERS WILL COME TONIGHT

A Playing Team of Twelve Expected from Kenosha.

The Kenosha Golf club will reach the city on the 9:30 train tonight. A playing team of twelve is expected. A number of ladies will accompany the team,
and supper will be served to the guests and to the members of the Golf and Country clubs, Saturday evening. Mrs.
Harry G. Carter has charge of the supper arrangements.

There will be practice play tomorrow morning, and the match will begin at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. The Kenosha team is regarded as the strongest that has ever met the Janesville players on the home course, the team including a number of very long drivers.

Chester Allen of the Kenosha team, reached the city yesterday afternoon, and has been trying his hand on the Buckleton links. His first round of eighteen holes was made in 90, and a feeling of great respect was developed at once among local golfers who feel that they are doing well to play in from 98 to 110. The length of Allen's drives enables him to clear most of the hills on the course. In driving to number 5, for example, his ball carried the top of the hill and rolled within a few feet of the hole.

power to merit it. All of our accounts

MEET TONIGHT AT COUNCIL CHAMBER

EFFORT TO RAISE FUNDS FOR GOOD ROADS CONVENTION.

Ways and Means Committee Will Report—Appointed By Chairman of the Meeting Last Evening—Effort Made During the Day to Solicit Subscriptions.

At the meeting called at the council chamber last night by Mayor Victor P.
Richardson, to decide whether Janesville
would agree to hold a Good Roads convention a ways and means committee was appointed and asked to report the result of their efforts at the meeting to be held at the council chamber tonight.

The committee appointed consists of the following: Mayor Victor P. Richardson, James Sennett, D. K. Jeffris, J.
L. Bostwick, Charles S. Putnam, W. E.
Evenson, George D. Simpson, Amos Rohberg, Frank H. Baack, W. H. Greenman and Fred L. Clemons. This committee were asked to solicit subscriptions today. As stated in The Gazette yesterday, $500 will have to be raised before the convention can be arranged for.
Two hundred dollars of the $500
would be used for paying the expenses of the two road construction experts, Brigadier General Roy Stone and E. S.
Harrison. The remainder would be used for purchasing material for the construction of the sample road and advertising.

If the convention is to be held in

Dust Avoid Spoils System.

Washington, Aug. 25.—The report of the civil-service commission puts great stress on the advantages of the merit system, and declares that the loss of the West India possessions of Spain was due to the spoils and patronage system. The commissioners urge the importance of the civil-service in governing America's new possessions, as the rule of the United States will not be contrasted with the government of Spain in the islands, but with the excellent governments accorded by Great Britain and Holland to their colonial possessions. If the positions in recently acquired territory are given as a reward for political service at home, the report says, we may expect discontent, misrule and expensive administration.

OUR NEW DESTROYERS.

High Speed Fighting Craft
Which Will Strengthen
the Navy.

BY CAPTAIN T. B. FRANCIS.

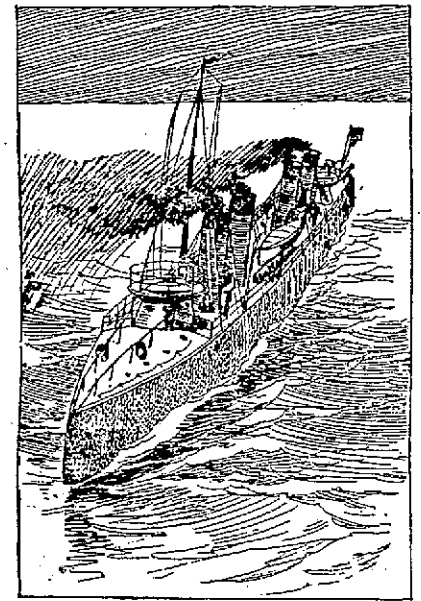

The launching of the 30 knot torpedo boat, or "destroyer," Bailey calls attention to what is being done toward strengthening this important arm of our navy.

The Bailey is one of a number of the high speed craft which are being added to the sea fighting force of Uncle Sam, among the others being the Dahlgren, the Craven and the Stringham.

This style of craft is one of the mechanical wonders of the present generation. The general name of torpedo boats is applied to all these swift, death dealing vessels, though there are some essential differences in their construction and displacement. Among naval men, however, the larger and more powerful of this type of warships are known as "destroyers."

The four vessels just mentioned are well along toward completion and by the end of the year will be ready to go on the active list. Properly two of them, the Dahlgren and the Craven, are torpedo boats of exceptional speed, while the Bailey and the Stringham are certainly entitled to the designation of "destroyers," even though no such official classification exists.

Aside from the features common to both types, the "destroyer" earns its title by reason of its greater speed and especially the power to maintain that speed in the face of a considerable sea and then to the farther reach and greater might of her guns. A craft that may be able to do her 30 knots on a smooth stretch, if she be light, will certainly fall below that in a bumping seaway which brings her partly to a halt with each wave. She must be heavy enough to maintain her momentum, otherwise she is likely to prove an extravagance and of questionable value in time of stress and conflict.

The construction of the Bailey was authorized by act of congress, approved March 2, 1897, and four months later she was awarded to her builders, the Gas Engine and Power company of Morris Heights, N. J., the contract price being $220,000. She is built after the style of the English destroyers and outclasses a majority of Great Britain's boasted destroyer flotilla.

To use an ancient, practical description, she is, like others of this class, "a long, low and rakish craft" and will be able to hold her own in the teeth of a pretty good gale. She is 200 feet long, having a maximum beam of 19 feet and a displacement of 235 tons. She has a total bunker capacity of 50 tons and a correspondingly big radius of action.

Like the other torpedo boats, she will be driven by two triple expansion engines operating twin screws and capable of developing an energy of 7,200 horsepower when making 400 turns a minute and inducing a speed of 30 knots. Steam at an impulse of 240 pounds to the square inch will be supplied by four Thornycroft water tube boilers divided into pairs and in two separate water tight compartments.

She has comfortable accommodations for 45 persons, officers and enlisted men, and is lighted by electricity, artificially ventilated and provided with all the conveniences that can be stored away within her snug interior.

As a torpedo boat destroyer she carries a battery of four semiautomatic, rapid fire 6 pounders, mounted in commanding positions, and as a torpedo boat her two 18 inch Whitehead torpedo tubes will make her an unpleasant neighbor for the mightiest of an enemy's battleships, while her ability to keep the sea will make her that much more dangerous.

The Stringham, which was authorized by the same act of congress as that which made provision for the Bailey, is a sister ship of the latter. Her armament is practically the same as that of the Bailey, and she is built upon substantially the same lines, though in some respects she is regarded as a superior boat. At least she cost more money. She was awarded at the contract price of $235,000 to the Harlan & Hollingsworth company of Wilmington, Del. Her dimensions are: Length, 225 feet; extreme beam, 22 feet; and her maximum draft on a displacement of 340 tons will be but 7 1/2 feet. The Stringham was launched some time ago and will be ready for sea service in a few months.

Pittsburg: the Home of Mormonism.
The Rev. Dr. W. A. Stanton, in the course of three sermons to be delivered from his pulpit at the Shady Avenue Baptist church, will attempt to prove that Pittsburg is the home of Mormonism. He claims that Joseph Smith, who, tradition has it, was shown through Divine revelation the gold-rimmed palm leaves whereon was written the basis of the Mormon doctrine and faith, stole a manuscript formulated by Sidney Rigdon from a Pittsburg printing office, which is the actual foundation of Mormonism. The Rev. Dr. Stanton has been making a special study of this question for more than four years, and claims to have ample proof of his assertions. He lately returned from the Pacific coast and Salt Lake City, where he had been looking up data on the subject.—Pittsburg Post.

A Big Soldier.

Minneapolis Tribune: If there are many men in Northfield like Clarence Whitford it would be a good thing to open a recruiting station there or to offer a bounty for the production of soldiers. Whitford is only 18 years old, but in his bare feet he measures 6 feet 2 3/4 inches. The recruiting officers are as proud of him as an angler would be to catch a ten-pound bass, but as he is only 18 years old now they cannot but wonder what he will be when he gets his growth. As big as he is now, it was a hard job to fit him out with clothes. Uncle Sam does not count on as big men, and there were no trousers in store that would fit him by an inch or two. The longest pair in store had to be let out before the recruit could be called well dressed.

Art of Making Antique Furniture.

It is difficult nowadays to know when one is getting a veritable antique or when he is having an imitation palmed off on him. Carved ivory is stained with oil to give them the mellow tint of age, and to get the cracked appearance supposed to be due to antiquity they are heated to the right temperature. The corroding to which bronze is subject is utilized to get an antique effect ahead of time. Arms and armor are treated with acid. China is stamped with old marks so cleverly that even experts are deceived, and furniture has little holes drilled in it to deceive the unwary with the idea that worms have been eating in it for generations.

Strange Historical Coincidences.

On April 21, 1770, Louis XVI was married to Marie Antoinette; on June 21, 1770, was the fete when 1,500 persons were trampled to death; on January 21, 1782, fete for the birth of the Dauphine; on June 21, 1791, the flight of Louis, his queen and two children to Varennes, where they were arrested; on September 21, 1792, royalty was abolished; on January 21, 1793, the most moral and best intentioned sovereign of France was decapitated, his body thrown into a pit filled with lime and no vestige left of the place of interment.

Death from Rough Shoe.

New York World: Charles Smith, a 16-year-old youth, of No. 1262 Grand street, near Newtown Creek, died on Monday of erysipelas. The boy was employed by a lumber firm at Newtown Creek, and the character of his work necessitated his wearing heavy brogans. Some weeks ago a callous spot was formed on his left foot, and it gradually developed into an ugly sore, accompanied by shooting pains up and down the leg. He went home and a doctor was called in, but it was too late to check the disease.

Poet Bryant's Farm.

Roslyn (L. I.) special to the New York World: Upland Farm, formerly a part of the Poet Bryant's estate, has just been sold to Gen. Lloyd Brice. The property is at present occupied by the family of Dr. J. J. Garmany, of Manhattan. He will give up his leave early in the autumn, and Gen. Brice will take possession. Another section of the William Cullen Bryant estate was purchased a few days ago by Perry Belmont. He intends building a handsome summer residence on the property.

Snake Swallows a Pig.

Harrisburg (Ky.) Democrat: Jim Wickersham of Nevada lost one of his best shots the first of the week. He and his wife had been visiting, and upon returning home heard the shout squealing under the floor, as if it were fastened up in a barrel. The floor was pried up, and to the astonishment of the owner it was discovered that a huge blacksnake had swallowed the pig. After some difficulty the reptile was killed and the hog released, but it soon afterward died.

A Rose That Thrives in a Cemetery.

The best white rose for cemetery planting is Madame Plantier. It is a variety of somewhat slender growth, and on this account is sometimes termed a half-climber. But it requires no trellis, being much more graceful when allowed to train itself than when given a support of any kind. It throws up a great number of stalks, on which great quantities of milk-white double flowers are borne in clusters during June and July.—Ladies' Home Journal.

Horse Rings the Bell.

Ewing (Ky.) Inquirer: "Dick," the old family horse of C. H. Knight, near Elizaville, pastures in the large lawn surrounding the house, and recently he has taken it as his morning duty to ring the "rising bell" at an early hour. He takes hold of the rope by which the large farm bell is rung and proceeds to keep up the racket until some one presents himself at the door.

THE MOODS OF MAN.

What a man likes most about a girl is his arm.

No man's head is level until it has been bumped on all sides.

Nothing makes a man feel prouder than to be on time once, when he is naturally in the habit of being late.

It is hard to convince a man that he snores, because he never has waked up quick enough to catch himself in the act.

"Does your husband always swear at his collar button when it goes wrong?" "No; sometimes he prefers to swear at me."

FEAR WAR WILL LAST LONG.

Prompt Ending of Philippine Trouble Not Looked For.

INSURGENTS ARE WELL ARMED

During the Rainy Season They Have Replenished Their Stocks of War Materials—Will Use Every Effort to Prolong the Struggle.

San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 25.—Advises from Manila received on the transport Sherman say that talk of the ending of the Philippine war deals no longer with weeks, but with months and even years. Among the mass of people, at Manila, military men and foreign residents, there is but one opinion. The whole effort of the insurgents for three months was to hold off the Americans until their ally, the rains, came. At this they have been as successful as they could have hoped. Unless affairs take some unforeseen turn the Filipinos will resume the war this fall with fresh spirit and a replenished stock of arms and ammunition. One shipload of arms, it is learned on good authority, reached them the last of July. Of money the leaders of the insurrection have no lack.

Reports brought through the lines to Spaniards and Filipinos in Manila are that the spirits of the insurrectionists are improving. Their policy after the rains will be as it was before, a campaign for gaining time and wearing out their opponents. They profess to imagine that congress will declare against annexation. If congress fails them they will try to prolong the struggle until the presidential campaign, with the expectation that one of the political parties will declare against imperialism and hope that such a party may win. To whip them while they are pursuing such tactics an army will be needed that can move rapidly and strike day after day, following up a defeat without having to wait for reinforcements, and thus giving the enemy time to reorganize.

Signing of Treaty Is Important.
Manila, Aug. 25.—The success of Gen. Bates in establishing in an amicable manner the new treaty between the United States and the sultan of Sulu is regarded as a great achievement by all persons in Manila who realize the importance of the victory in its future bearings and the difficulties which have been overcome. The Americans gain by this treaty far greater concessions and wider powers than the Spanish treaty with the sultan afforded the government at Madrid. At the same time these concessions leave the natives contented and friendly.

More New Regiments.
Washington, Aug. 25.—Orders for the enlistment of more volunteer regiments will be issued soon by the war department. The quota of 35,000 enlisted men for the volunteers authorized by congress has been nearly exhausted, and only four regiments can be obtained from the remainder, less than 5,000 men. At least one of the new volunteer regiments will be composed of negroes.

Returning Soldiers on the Way.
Tokyo, Aug. 25.—The United States transport Grant, having on board the returning volunteers of the Idaho, Wyoming and North Dakota regiments, left Tokyo Aug. 14.

The transport Sheridan, bearing homeward from Manila the Minnesota and South Dakota regiments, sailed from Tokyo Thursday direct for San Francisco.

To Bring Dakotans Home.
Pierre, S. D., Aug. 25.—One of the proposed methods of raising funds to bring the South Dakota troops from San Francisco is by calling a special session of the legislature to provide means. A committee has been appointed to call upon Gov. Lee in regard to the proposition.

Hotel Guests in Danger.
Buzard's Bay, Mass., Aug. 25.—The Manomet house here was burned Thursday. The guests had difficulty in escaping, and were obliged in many cases to crawl on their hands and knees through the corridors filled with flame and smoke. Very little of the property of the hotel or of the guests was saved.

Pana Miners Still Out.
Pana, Ill., Aug. 25.—The local miners have decided not to go to work unless the operators pay them 40 cents per ton. This the operators say they cannot do. The prospects of an adjustment of the differences are now more distant than ever. The weekly commissary is still received by the miners.

H. Walter Webb Ill.
Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 25.—H. Walter Webb, vice president of the New York Central railroad, is seriously ill at H. McK. Twombly's camp on Upper St. Regis lake, of a complication of diseases, and it is feared he will not recover.

Fifth Reviewed by Gen. Reece.
Springfield, Ill., Aug. 25.—The usual ceremonies incident to governor's day were observed at Camp Lincoln Thursday, and in the absence of Gov. Tanner the Fifth regiment passed in review before Adj.-Gen. Reece and staff.

Disease Appears in Ponce.
Ponce, Porto Rico, Aug. 25.—Thirty cases of acute malaria and three cases of typhoid fever developed here as a result of the recent flood carrying filth into the city.

To the Public...

We take pleasure in announcing that we have purchased the business and good will of C. A. Sanborn & Co., and that with but a single change we shall continue the methods which have contributed to their success.

Hereafter the business will be conducted on a CASH BASIS—being, as we believe, after a careful study of the relative merits of both the credit and cash systems, to be the ideal business method.

We consider it just and proper to submit for your consideration a few of the reasons that prompt us to the change:

First—The Credit System involves a certain percentage of loss, no matter how much care may be exercised, and of course this loss must be made up by cash purchasers. With no loss, prices can be materially lowered. The cash system alone makes this possible.

Second—The Credit System necessitates the expense of a book-keeper, etc., of a large amount of idle capital, with the loss of interest on money so invested.

Third—The Cash System enables a merchant to discount all bills and thereby secure the lowest prices on all purchases.

Fourth—The time taken in the collection of accounts, etc., can be devoted to the wants of customers, and perfecting the service of the store, with the cash system.

There are many reasons why cash dealing is superior to credit.

Our plan is to sell our goods at prices lower in proportion to the saving thus effected by the Cash System. Confident of our ability to sell at the lowest prices on every grade of goods, we solicit the patronage of cash buyers.

Very Respectfully,

DEDRICK BROS.,

Successors to C. A. Sanborn & Co.
